A Dianic, Womyn-only Goddess Temple dedicated in the Spirit of Aloha to the preservation, perpetuation and promotion of Goddess culture, public ceremony, ritual and Womyn's Mysteries.

"A'ohe hana nui ka alu'ia."

No task is too big when done together.

Buffalo Woman is calling, calling to us! Buffalo Woman is calling, She's calling to us! She's calling Peace; She's calling Love; She's calling Healing; She's calling Joy. Buffalo Woman is calling, calling to us! The womyn are wearing white, singing and dancing in honor of White Buffalo Calf Woman, and pledge to create peace in their lives, thereby creating peace in our world: as above, so below. Her gift of the Peace Pipe is passed around the circle, and each womyn partakes of this sacred tradition.. Those who are called to share their vows of Peacekeeping are witnessed by their Sisters. The Moon is still bright in the sky, so with olive branches sacred herbs, and a map of the world, a spell for Peace is cast and released to the Goddess, to the World, to the Universe. It is sent up, to rain down upon the Earth, to create healing, forgiveness, and joy. So mote it be!      ♪Jesamyn Angelica☾

Aloha Daughters of the Goddess,

Spring has sprung in the Temple. We are bustling with new growth including eleven women in Witch School, ongoing circles in Napa, and a Summer Goddess Retreat. I am also teaching a new class at New College, heading to Wisconsin for Spiral Door in April, to the Women's Crescent Moon Retreat in Canada in August, and to the Temple of Diana's Conference in September. Mothering two teen daughters and writing a book with Luisah Teish and Deborah Grenn is also keeping my cup filled up. Life is full and wonderful as I pull together all the parts of my world to create balance, harmony, and peace for myself as well for those around me.

In the midst of all of this, I continue to remind myself that the most important thing I experience in my life is deep connection with the women I teach, circle with, and care about. Relationship and Relating is what I really need. As long as this happens then I am fueled and filled up. If life becomes an empty container of business and tasks then what is the point?

I invite each of you to go within and look at how you are manifesting those things in your world that truly fill you up and nourish you. The most important thing in creating world peace is finding peace within—which often means taking a long, hard look at those things that no longer serve us. Spring is a good time to cleanse and clean out the old...those things in our closets and homes that we no longer need. Examining the pieces of our world is also important: Are we living life to our fullest potential? Passion? Is the world we have created around us a reflection of what we want? If the answers are yes—Wonderful! Give yourself a big hug. If the answers are no—give yourself a big hug anyway! But begin to do the cleaning that is necessary to give yourself the outer reflection and mirror of who you really are. It can be scary, so take it slow, one step at a time. And always remember.....You are not alone. She is always there to guide you and so are the womyn who are in this with you.

I look forward to seeing you in Circle. Blessed be!

Aloha,
